WAR SERVICE OF JEWS OF THE UNITED STATES AND ALLIED NATIONS

EDITORIAL NOTE

Owing to the fact that World War II came to an end just before this volume went to press, it was deemed advisable to omit lists such as those presented in preceding issues, of Jewish men and women in the armed forces of the United States and its Allies, who were killed or died in action or were awarded decorations or were otherwise honored, during the year reviewed in this volume, July 1, 1944 to June 30, 1945. It was felt that, appearing several months after V-J Day, the lists, which were incomplete even as far as this period was concerned, might erroneously be regarded as complete lists for the entire war. Furthermore, it is planned to publish in succeeding issues special articles on the war service of Jews in the armies of the Allies, with complete lists.

Insofar as the United States is concerned, it has been suggested that, as soon as practicable, there be published a supplementary volume giving as full an account as possible of the war service of American Jews.
